THE MONTH IN 30 SECONDS

Your banner ads reached about 107,500 people this month (Google's estimate), up from about 35,600 last month, and every 1,000 views cost $1.06, down from $3.83. Of the views Google could measure, 67% were on screen, up from 53%. Your ads sent 789 visits to your website, close to last month's 797 and well above the 266 of a usual month. Most banner views were in Manhattan (75.4%), with 6.7% in Dallas County, and ESPN carried 85.5% of them, so we recommend going through the campaign's areas and websites with you. No leads were counted this month or last, and banners are judged on being seen rather than on leads.

WHAT WE CHANGED THIS MONTH Google's change history for your account covers September 9 onward, not the whole month, and it shows no edits in that stretch. So these numbers show how the current settings performed.

BANNER ADS

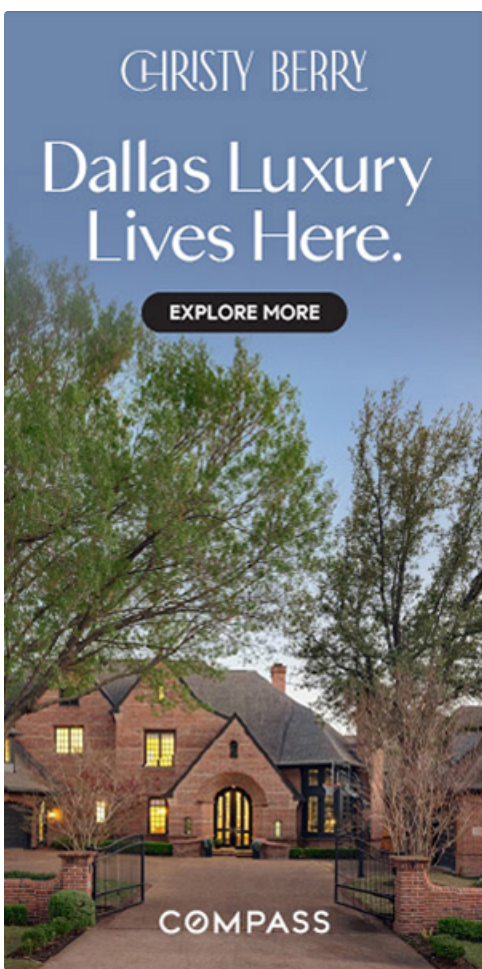

Banner ads - your name reached about 107,500 people for $243

Banners keep your name in front of people as they browse websites and apps, so we judge them on being seen, not on leads. This month your banners were shown 229,395 times to about 107,500 people, about 2.1 times each, against about 35,600 people last month.

Shown: 3 of the 12 sizes of this design. Across all 12 sizes this month: 213,421 views, 325 clicks.

- Cost: every 1,000 views cost $1.06, down from $3.83 last month, so reaching 1,000 different people cost about $2, against about $6.

- On screen: 67% (153,954 of 229,381 measured views) were actually on screen, up from 53% last month.
- Spend: $243 this month, up from $217 last month, with the daily budget currently set at $8.00.
- Designs: Live Luxuriously was shown the most (213,421 views, 325 clicks), and Dallas Luxury Lives Here was shown 15,974 times, with 150 clicks.

What this means for you

Think of a banner as a billboard: judge it by how many people see it and whether it is actually on screen. This month your banners reached more people, and more of their views were on screen, than last month.

BANNER PLACEMENTS

Where banners ran - ESPN carried 85.5% of views

Your banner campaign is set to show on a chosen list of websites, and 85 of the 336 sites on that list showed your banners this month. ESPN had 196,188 views, 85.5% of the total, at $0.24 per 1,000 views, down from $0.52 last month.

Where your banners ran

229,395 banner views this month, largest sites first

ESPN		196,188 views 86% of views, 161 clicks
The Weather Channel		23,910 views 10% of views, 235 clicks
BBC		1,309 views 1% of views, 10 clicks
The Hill		842 views 0% of views, 1 click
U.S. News & World Report		632 views 0% of views, 12 clicks
The New York Times		444 views 0% of views, 9 clicks
The other 79 sites		3,739 views 2% of views, 124 clicks
Site not named by Google		2,331 views 1% of views

The banners appeared on 85 different websites this month.

- The Weather Channel came next with 23,910 views (10.4% of all banner views) and 235 clicks, at $6.60 per 1,000 views.

- ESPN, The Weather Channel, BBC, The Hill and U.S. News & World Report together carried 97% of views.
- Real estate sites got 0 views, though 14 such sites are on your list, and design and architecture sites got 5 views, with 24 on the list.

What this means for you

ESPN gives you a lot of views at a low price, but it means most of your banner views sit on a sports site. The opportunity is the real estate and design sites on your list, which barely showed your banners, and we will look into why before we go through the list with you.

WHERE SEEN

Where people saw your banners - 6.7% of views were in Dallas County

Your home market is Dallas, and 15,294 banner views (6.7%) came from people in Dallas County, with 53 clicks. Most views, 172,885 (75.4%), were in Manhattan, which is on the list of areas the campaign is set to show in.

- Within Dallas County, the town of Dallas had 15,080 views.
- The rest were spread across counties in several other states, led by Cook County (7,377 views, 3.2%) and King County (6,518 views, 2.8%).
- The campaign's area list, as currently set, is long and covers neighborhoods and towns in several states.

What this means for you

If your aim is to be known in Dallas, the area list is the place to start. We will go through it with you before changing anything.

CLICKS AND VISITS

Clicks and visits - 475 banner clicks and 789 visits to your website

Banner clicks fell to 475 from 568 last month, while the banners were shown far more often (229,395 views against 56,733), so the click rate fell to 0.2% from 1.0%. Each click cost $0.51 on average, against $0.38. We treat banner clicks as a light signal.

- 431 of 475 banner clicks came from phones, and 97.9% of banner views were on mobile.
- ESPN had 161 clicks from its views, while The Weather Channel had 235 clicks from far fewer views.
- Your website's visitor numbers credit 789 visits this month to your Google ads, close to last month's 797 and well above the 266 of a usual month. Visits and clicks are counted separately, so they do not match.

What this means for you

Visits to your website held steady from last month. We will keep an eye on the click rate in the coming month.

LEADS

Leads - 0 this month, as in August

A lead is an ad visitor who reached out or signed up: a tap on your phone number, a home-search sign-up, or a form such as a contact, showing or home-value request. None were counted this month or last month, and none have come from the banners since June 1.

No leads came in from the ads this month.

- Banners are judged on being seen, so any lead from them is a bonus, not their scorecard.
- Google also counted 0 leads from people who saw a banner, did not click and came back later.
- The account counts phone taps, home-search sign-ups and requests such as contact, showing, valuation and market-report requests.

What this means for you

With banners as your only campaign, a quiet lead count is not surprising. A quick test sign-up would confirm that new leads from your website are being counted.

WHAT WE RECOMMEND NEXT

Recommendations for the coming month

1

Point more of your banners at Dallas

TARGETING

We recommend going through the campaign's area list with you, since 75.4% of views this month were in Manhattan and 6.7% in Dallas County. The aim is for more of the same $8.00 a day to reach people in Dallas, and we will not change the list without your go-ahead.

2

Review the banner websites, starting with ESPN

WHERE BANNERS RUN

We recommend going through the 336 sites on your list with you. ESPN carried 85.5% of views at a low price, and we would keep it unless you prefer otherwise, while looking at why the real estate and design sites on your list showed almost none of your banners.

3

Run a quick test sign-up on your website

QUICK CHECK

We recommend that our team make a test sign-up on your website in the coming month. If it reaches your team and is counted, the lead count is working as set up. Your team would see a test lead from us, named BLOK Test.

4

Keep watching the click rate and visits

KEEP WATCHING

We recommend no change to the banner designs yet, and watching the click rate, 0.2% this month against 1.0% last month, along with visits to your website, 789 this month, over the coming month.

What we need from you this month

1. A short call to go through your banner areas and websites with us, so you can flag any you want added or removed.
2. A yes to the test sign-up on your website.

PLAIN-ENGLISH GLOSSARY

Reach

How many different people were shown your banners, counting each person once. It is Google's estimate, and months cannot be added together.

Cost per 1,000 views

What it cost to show your banners 1,000 times.

Lead

An ad visitor who tapped your phone number on your website, signed up on your home search, or sent a form such as a contact, showing or home-value request.

Views on screen

A view is a time a banner was shown on a page. It counts as on screen when at least half the ad was on screen for at least one second.

Click rate

The share of banner views that led to a click, 0.2% this month.

A usual month

The average month across June to August. It keeps an unusually busy or quiet month from setting the bar.
