THE MONTH IN 30 SECONDS

Your Westchester Home Search ads drew 334 clicks this month, up from 310 last month and above a usual month's 304, at $1.45 per click against $1.56 last month. Of the searches Google shows, none were for your team by name, so these clicks came from people shopping for homes, not people already looking for you. Leads came to 17, all home-search sign-ups, against 21 last month and 22 to 23 in a usual month, and sign-ups have been quiet since October 1. You spent $484, close to last month's $485. Next, we recommend a quick test sign-up and new ad wording, since your ads missed 78% of the searches they qualified for because they ranked too low.

WHAT WE CHANGED THIS MONTH Google's change history for your account covers September 9 to October 1, and no edits were recorded in that stretch. So these numbers show how the current settings performed.

SEARCH ADS

Search ads - 334 clicks, up from 310 last month

Search ads appear when someone types what they want into Google, so we judge them on clicks from the right searches and on leads. Your Westchester Home Search ads drew 334 clicks for $484, up from 310 last month and above a usual month's 304.

- Cost per click: $1.45 on average, against $1.56 last month and $1.60 in a usual month.
- Click rate: 8.0%, against 5.7% last month and 5.9% in a usual month, so more of the people who saw your ads clicked.
- Times shown: your ads appeared 4,179 times on Google results pages, against 5,427 last month and 5,109 in a usual month, so fewer showings came with more clicks.
- Spend: $484, close to last month's $485 and a usual month's $486, within a daily budget of $16.

What this means for you

Your budget bought more clicks than usual this month, each at a lower cost, and a bigger share of the people who saw your ads clicked.

SEARCH WORDS

What people searched - none for your name, and 74% shopping for a home

Google shows us the search words behind 77% of clicks (257 of 334). None of those searches were for your team by name, so of the searches Google shows, these clicks reached people shopping for homes, not people already looking for you.

Google shows the search words for 77% of clicks (257 of 334); the groups above describe those clicks. Searches for the team by name: none this month. Those come from people who already know you, so they are always kept apart from the groups above.

- Shopping for a home: 191 clicks (74% of visible clicks) for $295 and 10 leads, with searches such as "houses for sale nyc" and "homes for sale nyc".
- Compass by name: 29 clicks (11% of visible clicks) for $32 and 1 lead, from people searching for your brokerage rather than your team.
- Listing sites by name, such as Zillow and Trulia: 20 clicks (8% of visible clicks) for $26 and 1 lead. Searches for other real estate firms by name drew 3 clicks for $3.54 and no leads.
- Searches followed by a lead included "condos for sale nyc" (2), "houses for sale nyc" (1), "townhomes for sale nyc" (1) and "condos for sale bronx" (1).

What this means for you

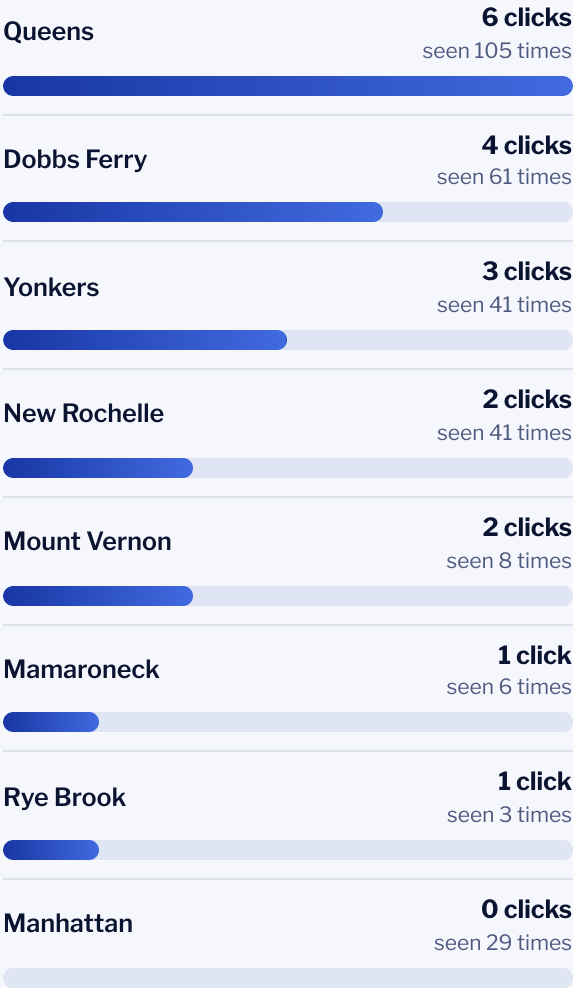

Your budget is going to people searching for homes. The small amount spent on searches for other firms' names is the one clear thing to screen out.

WHERE BUYERS LOOK

Where searches pointed - 9 of 13 visible leads named a place outside your home market

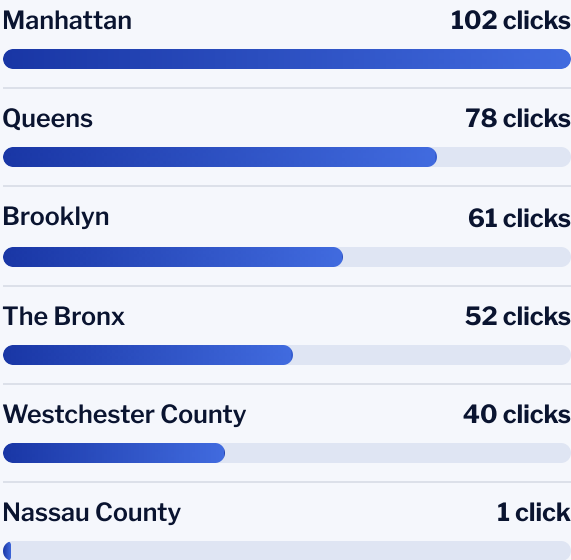

Your ads are set to show in The Bronx, Brooklyn, Westchester County, Queens and Manhattan. Of the searches Google shows, 42% of clicks (107) named a place outside Westchester, and those brought 9 leads. Searches naming a Westchester town drew 7% of visible clicks (19) and no leads.

Where people were when they clicked

Westchester Home Search (Google search ads)

- Where people were: 40 of 334 clicks came from people in The Bronx (12%), and 294 from elsewhere.
- Home-market towns named in searches: Queens (6 clicks), Dobbs Ferry (4), Yonkers (3), New Rochelle (2) and Mount Vernon (2).
- Leads: 9 of 13 visible leads came from searches naming a place outside your home market, against 6 of 15 last month.

- Searches that named no place at all drew 37% of visible clicks (96) and 3 leads.

What this means for you

Most of your leads this month came from people searching for homes outside your home market, with searches such as "condos for sale nyc". We are not changing where your ads show yet, and a word from you on these buyers will guide the next step.

LEADS

Leads - 17 home-search sign-ups, against 21 leads last month

A lead is an ad visitor who signed up or reached out through an action your account counts, such as a home-search sign-up, a contact request or a phone tap. This month brought 17 leads, all of them home-search sign-ups, against 21 last month and 22 to 23 in a usual month. That is the lowest monthly count since June 1, when our lead history starts.

WHAT THEY DID	LEADS	FROM WHICH ADS	WHAT IT MEANS

All leads this month	17

- Home-search sign-ups: 17, against 18 last month and 21 to 22 in a usual month.
- Contact requests: none this month, against 3 last month and 1 to 2 in a usual month. The last one came in on August 12.
- Cost per lead: $28, against $23 last month and $21 in a usual month. The share of clicks that became a lead was 5.1%, against 6.8% last month and 7.5% in a usual month.
- Sign-ups have been quiet since October 1, with 5 days with none through October 6. The longest earlier quiet stretch from June to August was 4 days, August 17 to August 20. A market report lead came in on October 4, after the month closed.

What this means for you

Against last month, the dip was mostly in contact requests; against a usual month, sign-ups are lower too. A quick test sign-up will show whether the quiet stretch since October 1 is simply quiet or a gap in how sign-ups are recorded.

SEARCH REACH

Missed searches - your ads missed 78% of eligible searches because they ranked too low

Your ads showed on under 10% of the searches they qualified for. Google decides which ads show from each ad's rank, set from the bid and from how useful the ad and its page look.

- Ranked too low: 78% of eligible searches were missed this way, against 85% last month and 81% across June to August.
- Budget ran out: 15% were missed because the day's budget ran out, against 8% last month and 12% across June to August.
- Your ads also showed on under 10% of eligible searches last month and across June to August.

What this means for you

We are not recommending a bigger budget. Ad rank is the bigger gap, and better ad wording and pages are the next thing we will work on, though we cannot promise how far ad rank will move.

WHAT WE RECOMMEND NEXT

Recommendations for the coming month

1

Run a quick test sign-up on your home search

QUICK CHECK

We recommend that our team make a test sign-up on your website's home search in the coming month. If it reaches your team and is counted, the quiet stretch since October 1 is simply quiet and we look at the ads. If it is not counted, we fix how sign-ups are recorded first. Your team would see a test lead from us, named BLOK Test.

2

Test new ad wording to improve ad rank

AD WORDING TEST

We recommend testing new ad wording that matches the shopping searches more closely, such as condos, houses and townhomes for sale, within the current $16 a day. Your ads missed 78% of the searches they qualified for because they ranked too low, and better ads are the next thing to improve there, though we cannot promise how far ad rank will move.

3

Screen out searches for other firms' names

SEARCH WORDS

We recommend screening out searches for other real estate firms by name. They drew 3 clicks for $3.54 this month and no leads, so this is a small tidy-up.

4

Keep watching where your leads search

KEEP WATCHING

We recommend no change to where your ads show yet. We will watch how many leads come from searches naming a place outside your home market, which was 9 of 13 visible leads this month against 6 of 15 last month, along with the share of clicks that become a lead.

What we need from you this month

1. A yes to the test sign-up on your home search.
2. A word on buyers searching for homes outside your home market, for example "condos for sale nyc": can your team help them? Your answer tells us whether to keep watching or to talk with you about narrowing where your ads show.

PLAIN-ENGLISH GLOSSARY

Click rate

The share of times an ad was shown that someone clicked it.

Lead

An ad visitor who signed up on your home search or reached out through an action your account counts, such as a contact request, a phone tap or a market report request. Taps on your Google listing are not counted.

A usual month

The average month from June to August. It keeps one unusually busy or quiet month from setting the bar.

Cost per click

What a click on your ad cost on average. You pay only when someone clicks.

Home-search sign-up

A visitor created an account on the home search on your website, usually to save a search or get new-listing alerts. An early buyer signal, not a request to talk.

Ad rank

How Google decides whether your ad shows on a search, set from the bid and from how useful the ad and its page look. Searches missed because of ad rank went to other ads.
